TV Markets by Nielsen Marketing Research Territory

Nielsen Marketing Research territory groupings are another standard way of reporting sales data. The following table ranks TV markets within each Nielsen Territory. This provides a yardstick for determining the number of spot markets needed to achieve a given coverage of a territory. For example, if the national media re not delivering sufficient advertising weight in New England, the planner will find that three TV markets (Boston, Hartford and Providence) contain almost 80% of the New England territory households. Or, he can use the table to get a better idea of how and what TV markets are needed to cover all of New England. Data is from special Nielsen Station Index tabulation based on a January 1986 estimate.

How Network Delivery Varies by Market

National advertisers use spot television to increase network advertising weight in specific markets to achieve a predetermined level. These market goals are derived from the advertising budget and the market's share of the brand's projected sales. Thus, a spot schedule is usually indicated where a market has an unusually high brand-sales potential, or where the network weight delivered for the brand is below the national average used in planning, or both.

The first factor, market brand potential, varies by product and is difficult to generalize. The second factor, local-market network audiences, must be generalized because planning is based upn next season's anticipated network performance. The prevalance of network package "buys," which tend to deliver average audience levels, supports the use of average data.

The following tabulation, chosen especially for the BROADCASTING/CABLECASTING YEARBOOK, shows Arbitron Televsion's Areas of Dominant Influence (ADI) in terms of percent of the total number of U.S. TV households. Also given, in like percentage terms, are the network audiences in each ADI market during prime-time hours, It is this market audience figure, when compared to the market's share of the population, that indicate whether the network commitment will perform above or below the national plan average in that market.

The figures are based on Aribtron Television's May 1985 Network Program Group Analysis.

Special relief.

(a) On petition by a cable television system operator, a franchishing authority, an applicant, permittee, or licensee of a television broadcast, translator, or microwave relay station, or by any other interested person, the Commission may waive any provision of the rules relating to cable television systems, impose additional or different requirements, or issue a ruling on a complaint or disputed question.

(b) the petition may be submitted informally, by letter, but shall be accompanied by a certificate of service on any cable television system operator, franchising authority, station licensee, permittee, or applicant, or other interested person who may be directly affected if the relief requested in the petition should be granted.

(c)(1) The petition shall state the relief requested and may contain alternative requests. It shall state fully and precisely all pertinent facts and considerations relied on to demonstrate the need for the relief requested and to support a determination that a grant of such relief would serve the public interest. Factual allegations shall be supported by affidavit of a person or persons with actual knowledge of the facts, and exhibits shall be verified by the person who prepares them.

The Commission may specify other procedures, such as oral argument, eventiary hearing, or further written submissions directed to particular aspects, as it deems appropriate. In the event that an evidentiary hearing is required, the Commission will determine, on the basis of the pleadings and such other procedures as it may specify, whether temporary relief should be afforded any party pending the hearing and the nature of any such temporary relief.

(g) Where a petition for waiver of the (certain) provisions is filed within fifteen (15) days after a request for carriage, a system community unit need not carry the signal of the requesting station pending the Commission's ruling on the petition or on the question of temporary relief pending further proceeding.

(h) On a finding that the public interest so requires, the Commission may determine that a system community unit operating or proposing to operate in a community located outside of the 48 contiguous states shall comply with provisions of Subparts D, F, and G of this part in addition to the provisions therof otherwise applicable.

A short course in cable, 1986

There are 7,300 operating cable systems in the U.S., serving some 19,000 communities. Another 1,000 franchises are approved but not built. Texas has the most systems (514) and California the most subscribers (3.3 million). Operating systems currently reach about 38.9 million subscribers, perhaps over 108 million people—45.7% of the nation's TV households. The largest (Cox Cable in San Diego) has about 258,000 subscribers. Some have fewer than 100. Tele-Comunications Inc. is the largest multiple system operator (MSO), with more than 3,578,000 subscribers. Industry revenues last year totaled approximately $3.6 billion. Most systems offer 20 or more channels. Systems constructed after March 1972 must have a minimum 20-channel capacity. The average monthly fee (basic service) is $10. Costs of laying cable range from $10,000 per mile in rural areas to $100,000 in urban areas and up to $300,000 where underground cable is required. An estimated 4,100 systems originate programing in their own studios, the average for 23 hours weekly. Equipment costs are as low as $30,000 for a small black and white operation and $200,000 for a color studio. Over 1,095 systems (15% of all systems) accept advertising on their local origination channels (excluding automated channels), with rates from $2 to $250 per 30-second spot. Most cable systems derive less than 5% of their gross revenues from advertising. Pay cable is on approximately 5,600 systems and reaches 31 million subscribers in 50 states. Most pay cable operators are reporting close to 60% penetration of their subscriber count. Home Box Office Inc. initiated the first national satellite interconnected pay network Sept. 30, 1975, using transponder time leased on the Satcom satellite. Aside from contracting for packaged pay programs, like HBO, cable operators can lease a channel to a pay program operator or secure their own programing directly from a supplier. Almost 32% of all cable sysems have ties with broadcast interests, over 20% with program producers and approximately 18% with newspapers. Many systems have multiple cross-ownership ties.
